

Celebrity Justice

Breaking News
Archives
Court Documents
Me
Home
There Oughta Be A Law
Local Listings
About the

Employee Alleges Harassment at Sean John Clothing

May 19, 2005

Chanel Gaither, an employee of rap mogul P. Diddy's Sean John, Inc. clothing company, has brought suit against her employer in federal court, and the documents reveal scurrilous allegations against some of Diddy's other employees.

Gaither claims a Sean John colleague named Sloan Macedo was relentless in his sleazy attempts at communicating with her -- for example, according to the suit, Macedo once approached Gaither and said, "my wife said I love (expletive)...I got some in the backyard last night."

Gaither also alleges Macedo began pantomiming an oral sex act and told her, "She was a freak - who probably has a leather mask and a whip." Gaither also says that on another occasion she was asked "Are you going to have a quickie today?" referring to a sex act.

P. Diddy himself has not been named in the suit, but if the allegations prove true, damages would likely will come out of his pocket, because it is his empire.

Chanel Gaither's attorney Royce Russell told us he felt "he had a strong case" and that Diddy is the "Captian of the ship" and must be held responsible, even if he wasn't directly involved.

Gaither further claims she wasn't the only victim of Macedo's alleged crudeness. Documents allege Macedo referred to one of the company's vendors as "such a Jew" and the office manager as "a bitch."

Diddy, real name Sean Combs, issued a statement to "CJ" that read in part, "Sean John and [Combs' record company] Bad Boy have a zero tolerance policy against sexual harassment and have procedures in place to address such claims."

Nonetheless, Diddy just might have to prove that to a judge.

(EMAIL THIS STORY TO A FRIEND)

TOP ST

Employee Alleges
Sean John Clothing

Trump's Carolyn T
the Boss

Linda Blair Fights I

Jackson Celebrity
Confirmed

'Desperate Housew
Bust

Poop on Ryan Sea